AT A RECENT ACCIDENT

You're pinned inside your car somewhere in a ditch - your child has just fallen from a tree and broken a leg - your mother has been stricken with a probable heart attack -- who can help? Obviously, in the first instance, you can do nothing, but someone else can. So who can that someone, or you, in the other cases, call? Your

Rescue Squad, that's who. Yes, this emergency group, staffed with your friends and of the day or night, providing "emergency care to the sick and injured."

The Elba Rescue Squad is squads. They are VOLUNTEER WORKERS who receive no compensation whatsoever for their time and services. They are men who work at eight-hour jobs, men with families, ordinary men who must become a little extraordinary in the performance of their life-saving duties. Also, five members of the Police Department double as Squad members - and if their police shift ends at 11:00 p.m. and they are called out on a run at 1:00 a.m. - well, as one policeman put it, "loss of sleep just doesn't count." These are the men who have as

Indeed, much of their own money is spent during some of their trips - averaging approximately $200 per year for each man. This might be spent on meals while transferring a patient from one hospital to another (they sometimes have to wait while decisions are made concerning the patient), or on gasoline for their private cars which they often take to the scene of a sustained emergency such as the search for bodies and/or vehicles submerged in a stream, extended searching needs that become necessary in the course of their duties. Their operating funds come from 1) donations: 2) whatever means of fund-raising the Squad comes up with; and 3) paythe patient or his family chooses to pay. Reimbursement of expenses presented after a call is not mandatory - and sometimes is not made, either by those who cannot afford it, or those who can and don't. Costs differ with each case, but transfers are paid at the rate of 50¢ per mile. Members of the Squad have been as far North as Birmingham and Atlanta; south to Bl-ountstown and Pensacola in F1orida; east to Chancellor (and Rucker Highway near Enterprise after the tornado in January of 1972); and west to Andalusia. On these trips they were assisting other Squads, but they answer local emergency calls wherever they come

If you can imagine being at your place of work or business - and the phone rings and it is for you - the radio operator at the Police Station says you are needed for an emergency call - you check out (at your own expense if your company has no provision your uniform and go - then you are realizing a little of the responsibility that rests the responsibility that rests upon the shoulders of the Rescue team. Personal family plans also take a back seat to the work of the Squad - such as a backyard picnic, an evening of relaxation with family or friends, a good, hot meal. (The time it takes them to get to the station from wherever they are can account for the time lapse before they get to the trouble spot.) A ruling is now in effect that requires two members on all runs - and they take turns by roster, with the others available also, as already mention-

What qualifications are necessary to be a member of the Rescue Squad? First of all, a person must be 21 and have a driver's license. Then, a basic first aid course must be taken. This teaches how to splint a broken limb; how to control bleeding; what to do to prevent shock (which can cause death); how to recognize symptoms of heart attack diabetic coma, etc.; means of applying artificial respiration; and many other emergency measures. But at the present time, crew members are participating in an 81-hour course at the Enterprise Junior College. The course, which requires attendance of two hours each, two nights per week, will child birth, poisonings, emotional disturbances, burns, cardiac arrests, electrical hazards, radiation (from laboratory accidents or those involving vehicles carrying chemicals); insect or animal stings and bites; drug overdoses, and other illsquad members are already capable of treating most of these ailments, but as the name of the course implies, they will have a deeper technical know-how and understanding at their

Also, each ambulance will soon be equipped with a two-way radio whereby squad personnel can be in communication with doctors at any hospital in the county, who will be able to give specialized instructions according to the patient's symptoms. (They can be in touch with Elba General through their present radios.) Coffee County has applied for a Federal grant to fund these additions, and recently voted to match the grant with $11,125.50.

Equipment on the truck includes saws, generator (for emergency power), big lights. (During the recent snow storm, the team rushed to provide power for a kidney machine while the electricity was off. The patient was denied the services of the machine for only a short while. (See separate copy of letter.)

two boats and motors. They are in the process of getting another ambulance and larger boats as the money becomes available. In addition to their duties, the men meet two nights a month, at which times they discuss old and new business, including recent experiences; finances; committees to be formed. All handling of money. new members and by-laws are voted on by the Squad. ALL members must vote to change rules and regulations, and 1/2 of them must be present to receive new members. They must also keep their training up-todate, be sure the equipment is in good repair, and keep records up-to-date.

The Rescue Squad solicits your help in a number of ways: "please," they ask, "stay away from fires and wrecks." Crowds greatly hinder their efforts. And. if you are asked to leave, do so immediately.

you are first to arrive on the scene of an accident, there is something you can do. "First of all," they advise, "KEEP CALM. Evaluate the situation, try to get help and do what you can until the help arrives." Incidentally, a law called "The Good Samaritan Act" was passed several years ago in Alabama which protects anyone giving aid to an accident victim In other words, no legal charges can be brought against you if you are trying to help. But, don't move a person, they say, unless it appears that his life is in immediate danger and it will be some time before professional help arrives. It may be that the only thing you can do is cover a victim to try and make him comfortable and prevent shock. "Using common sense, the risk of involvemen is small indeed," says a square "In fact," warns a policeman, "you leave yourself open for charges of abandonment if you do not stop to help, and are seen passing by an accident." If there are already a few people gathered, you may still stop and ask if you can help - and if not - leave. The Elba Rescue Squad would like to express its appreciation to citizens for their cooperation and moving aside for them to get through. Also they wish to thank law enforcement offiivities during the upcoming Spring-Summer season, as it is their busiest time. Also, they would like to a for your FINANCIAL HELP and your VOLUNTEER SERVICE. Both will help your friends your relatives - your family

French Club Goes To Convention

On Friday March 2, a carayan of 19 French Students and 2 sponsors pulled out of EHS and headed for the University of Alabama. These students were: Clive Collier, Jackie Brunson, Van English, Donna McCollough, Jennifer Young, Debbie Lee, Debbie Henderson, Diane Bryan, Joyce Ziglar, Vann Yaughan, Keith Towles, Faye Davis, Virginia Stephens, Judy Kayron Hudson, Judy Kelley, Cyndi Maddox, Mrs. Sylvia Padgett and Mrs. Mary Ann Richburg.

After leaving Elba we didn't stop until we reached Montgomery (even though it is reported that some needed to use the rest area). In Montgomery Mrs. Padgett bought some doughnuts while osme needed to use the rest while some of us waited in front to flag some EHS Students on their way to the Beta Club Convention After leaving Price's we pulled over to Mr. Ko Ko Mo, where we all ordered hamburgers and french fries even though they told us that they served only breakfast at that time in the morning. The we ctopped no more, until Mrs. Padgett had to pull off beside the road somewhere near Prativille, because her windshield wipers weren't working; however, when she hit a bump pulling off they started working. As far as we know, everyone enjoyed the ride up there, especically the observant girls in the black cadillac.

On Saturday morning, Mrs. Padgett attended the Sponsor's Breakfast at 7:00. Before leaving, she went to wake everyone Upon arriveing at the door of the Cadillac Co., she was met by a sign which read "Padgett's Pests at Rest" and believe it or not, they were resting, despite the vibrating bed of Judy Judy Kayron and Cindy.
